Description

This course will provide Extensive reading from Persian poetry texts, with practice in grammar and composition. The materials, which are mostly poems or related articles, are selected from several sources. The materials will be available to every student as handouts or attached files throughout the course. This course serves as senior/graduate course and helps students to study further Persian literature.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

You are expected to attend every class. Attendance will be taken each class period. Excused absences include but are not limited to illness with note from doctor, religious holiday, etc. If you text or surf the internet in class, it will count as an unexcused absence for the day, no exceptions.

Students are expected to come to class with the day's assigned readings in hand (bring your book or print readings from CARMEN), completed, and be ready to actively participate in discussion.

Academic Accountability

Plagiarism is the one unforgivable academic crime. All work submitted must be your own, and all sources (whether hard copy, electronic, oral, or what) used as references or inspiration must be fully cited. You are responsible for knowing what these standards are. An allegation of intentional plagiarism requires formal investigation by a university academic accountability committee (the instructor does not have the option to solve the problem unilaterally), and may result in penalties from loss of credit for the course up to suspension of the student from the university.

Academic misconduct: "Students are reminded that they are responsible for being aware of and obeying the University's rules regarding academic misconduct and the Code of Student Conduct."

"Students with disabilities that have been certified by the Office for Disability Services will be appropriately accommodated, and should inform the instructor as soon as possible of their needs. The Office for Disability Services is located in 150 Pomerene Hall, 1760 Neil Avenue; telephone 292-3307, TDD 292-0901; <http://www.ods.ohio-state.edu/>."
